Stock Material Detection Report

Offline evaluation of 5 stock photos on 25 October 2026. Each photo is scanned for cigarette packs, loose sticks, lighters, ashtrays, and speakers; every item found is matched against the SKU reference gallery and counted per SKU. Items the system cannot identify with confidence are counted as Unknown and flagged for a human to review rather than guessed.

How to read this report

Each photo produces a list of count lines, one per SKU and item type (for example “Avon Blue · Cigarette pack · 2”). A line is marked Review when at least one of its items was uncertain; otherwise it is OK. The annotated photo shows every detection: green boxes are confidently identified, red boxes need review, and grey boxes are sticks still inside a pack (not counted).

COUNTING RULES

Cigarette pack
Each pack counts as 1, whether it is closed or open.

Loose cigarette stick
Each loose stick counts as 1. A stick that is still inside a pack is not counted separately.

Lighter
Each lighter counts as 1.

Ashtray
Each ashtray counts as 1.

Speaker
Each speaker counts as 1.

THRESHOLDS USED

Minimum detector score · 0.05
Boxes below this were dropped before counting.

Review score · 0.30
Detections below this are kept but flagged as weak, unless the SKU match is at least 0.85.

Nested box overlap · 0.80
A box with this share of its area inside a stronger box of the same item type is a fragment and is not counted.

Minimum SKU similarity · 0.70
Below this the item is counted as Unknown.

Minimum SKU margin · 0.02
If the top two SKUs are closer than this, the item is flagged.

Lighter colour similarity · 0.40
Lighters whose colour is further from the matched SKU are flagged.

Printed-text check
Off for this run.

Lines: 20 in total, 5 flagged for review (25%).

#04 Black Diamond vs Avon Blue (0.79 vs 0.78); #08 Aris Apple vs Black Diamond (0.79 vs 0.77)

Weak detection

The detector was not confident this is really the item it labelled, and the SKU match was not strong enough to confirm it on its own. It may be a false detection.
